

Supported Decision Making Policy

Key points I need to know:

- Everyone has the right to make their own decisions and have those decisions respected.
- Always assume people we support can make decisions with appropriate support.
- Supported decision-making is the preferred approach.
- Substitute decision-making or guardianship is reserved for matters beyond capacity.
- Decisions must reflect the person's will and preferences.

Policy Statement

Hōhepa Wellington is committed to supporting the rights, autonomy, and dignity of all people we support. This policy outlines our commitment to enabling individuals to make their own decisions, with appropriate support where required.

We recognise that all individuals have the right to make decisions about their lives. Supported Decision-Making (SDM) is an approach that respects autonomy while providing tailored support to help individuals understand, consider, and communicate their choices.

Hōhepa Wellington will always presume that people we support have the ability to make their own decisions, with appropriate support where required.

Responsibility

Key Principles:

- Presumption of Capacity: People are assumed to have the ability to make decisions that affect their lives.
- Person-led: People choose who supports them to communicate and participate in decision-making.
- Will and Preferences: Decisions must reflect the person's own will, preferences, and values.
- Access to Support: People are entitled to support to understand and make decisions.
- Safeguards: Support must be free from coercion, undue influence, and conflict of interest.
- Dignity and Risk: People have the right to take risks, supporting opportunities to learn, grow and have new experiences.
- Least Restrictive Approach: Supportive decision-making must be used before considering substitute decision-making.

Scope

This policy applies to all people who receive support and services from Hōhepa Wellington, and to all families, significant others, supporters, employees, volunteers, contractors, and related service providers involved in supporting decision-making.

Definitions

Supported Decision-Making: A process where a person is supported to make their own decisions based on their will and preferences. This process is not limited to those who can directly express their will and preference.

Supporter: A person chosen by the individual to assist in decision-making without taking over the decision.

Legal Capacity: The ability to make decisions and have those decisions recognised.

Welfare Guardian: A person appointed by the Family Court under the Protection of Personal and Property Rights Act 1988 to make specific personal care and welfare decisions for a person who lacks capacity for those decisions.

Supported Decision-Making as it relates to and with Welfare Guardianship

Supported decision-making is the preferred approach and must be used wherever possible.

Where a Welfare Guardian is appointed:

- The person must be supported to express their will and preferences; where necessary this may include observations of a person's behaviour, body language and expression to assess their will and preferences.
- Those preferences must be taken into account wherever possible.
- Staff must not default to the Welfare Guardians making decisions, where the person can decide with support.

A Welfare Guardian may only make decisions where:

- It has not been possible to elicit the will and preference of the person – these decisions should be made with the “best interpretation” of the person's will and preference.
- The person lacks capacity for that specific decision.
- The decision falls within the scope of the court order.

Building Capacity

Supported decision-making furthers the empowerment and self-determination of people we support, improving emotional wellbeing through greater choice and control.

People must be encouraged and supported to develop and exercise their right to decide on all aspects of their lives, including personal care, welfare and property, based on their capacity to understand the nature and foreseeable consequence of decisions.

Supported decision making done well, builds confidence and self-advocacy increasing the likelihood of the people we support living the life they choose.
